

The Ministry of the Russian Federation for Civil Defence, Emergencies and Elimination of Consequences of Natural Disasters

---

06.12.2020 23:12

Daily operational forecast for December 7, 2020

Image not found or type unknown

The operational forecast of possible emergency situations for December 7, 2020 on the territory of the Russian Federation is determined by the passage of 3 cyclones, 2 anticyclones and the atmospheric fronts.

On the territory of the Russian Federation, the inter-municipal level and higher level emergencies caused by severe weather phenomena are not forecast.

The accidents including the disruption of life support systems, all modes of transport, power lines breakage are forecast:

in the Southern Federal District, in the Republic of Crimea, Krasnodar Territory and Rostov Region (wind gusts up to 20-25 m/s); in the North Caucasian Federal District, in the Stavropol Territory (black ice, wind gusts up to 20 m/s).

The landslides, landslips, subsidence of soil in the mountainous and foothill areas are forecast in the North Caucasian Federal District.

The information was prepared based on the data of the Hydrometeorological Center of Russia and the All-Russian Research Institute of Civil Defence and Emergencies (FC).